

The first and second pairs of radios must use different channels. For example, the first pair of radios would both be set to Hopping Sequence channel 1, and the second pair of radios would both be set to Hopping Sequence channel 3. This installation is recommended for non line of sight links and doubles the normal range for line-of-sight applications.